

So I decided to quit being cowardly and actually tell the public about everything. I've mentioned bits and pieces about it to all sorts of people both privately and publicly but I have never painted a full, complete picture that shows just how toxic I actually am. I'll grant you there isn't that many if any screenshots, but considering these are claims against myself, I figured I won't need any. I've broken this down into segments because there is too much to go off of.

2019 - Powerscaling community

Due to a large portion of people here not having any platform, I've decided to keep everyone anonymous. There's two incidents here that I specifically want to point to. The first involved someone spelling "sperg" as "spurg". Me, being the toxic shitlord I am, got onto his case for it, repeatedly insulting and bashing him for it, and when I got called out for it, I completely turned around and bashed myself in order for the subject to be dropped and for people to sympathise with me. Fairly scummy and manipulative behaviour that I have yet to grow out of. As a point of reference, I have yet to apologise to anybody about that situation.

The second is a case with one man who I'd feuded with. We debated and I ended up losing. However, I spread around and paraded for months that I had beaten him and that I was better at debates than him. Mind you I knew I lost, yet lied for months until finally folding the third time I was called out for lying.

2020 - Powerscaling community

So this has one event only. A debate with a guy where we were arguing over the definition of countless... no I am not kidding. Essentially I demonised his arguments, moved the goal post, ignored him, and when I had run out of tactics, just implied the whole debate to be over a misunderstanding of positions, when my original argument was clearly trying to refute him. Essentially I'd lied again. But we're totally not gonna see anymore signs of that dishonesty, are we.

2020 - The alts

This is likely the most damning segment. Essentially there are three alts here, Person, HugeBoomer and DARK. All three are me. DARK isn't so bad, just doing bad comms on my videos, that's about it, however I still acted like they were a different person so I still lied. Second is Person. This one is rather bad but not egregious. On this account I had called people the hardest word. I had also questioned someone's relationship, because I got entertained by arguing with my troll accounts.

HugeBoomer is where things get detestable though, you see, this account was used to call me a pedophile, it originally started innocent enough, just making stupid points, however it began accusing people of pedophilia. Specifically me, SpyroTheBugBoy and I believe MichaelIsHere (now The Master Reaper). And would eventually show faked screenshots to "prove this".

Granted the screenshots were clearly taken with a bot (I deliberately left the "bot" next to Spyro's name), but that doesn't mean I never falsely accused anybody.

This gets worse when you realise Spyro had made streams on Boomer, and I hopped on acting like I was totally different from Boomer. I only admitted this late 2020 and deliberately in a way that made the admittance hard to find. After admitting it I deleted the account, while not apologising to anybody. I do apologise of course, but I don't want you accepting my apology or even considering it.

2020 - Behaviour in the SCC

So for those not aware, I joined a commentator group named POG back in 2020. It started out innocuous enough. But then I would constantly start fights, turn everything into an argument, and then when everyone stopped paying attention, would 180 and start shitting on myself, similar to that situation in 2019. This is specifically important because it shows a recurring pattern of fight starting and then playing victim when things don't go my way. One time in particular being where I leaked my own IP in the material chat. Eventually the POG split happened and I bullied everybody into being concerned for me so badly due to the behaviour in POG that I ended up being moved into WAC.

2021

There's a lot of behaviour like gross actions during many dramas. However I'd prefer to laser focus in particularly on the incident where I leaked from a private chat. This specifically happening as I was fully aware it was triggering someone. Also only admitting this weeks later. I also leaked DMS with someone who was having a breakdown in order to make them look bad.

In conclusion I am a shit person who should be cut off by everyone.